THE SYNAGOGUE OF SWALLOWS.

[Some of our discontented folk, who must be "on the move," may learn a lesson from the sage swallow who was "tired of travel" and would "stay in London."]

Lo, on the roofs the swallows congregate,
What time the raindrops of October patter,
And each one talks about his future fate;
And bless my soul, how merrily they chatter!

"I'm off to Memphis," are the words of one,
"A nest by azure Nile was the suggestion
Of rare old lyrical Anacreon,
Ere earth was plagued with an Egyptian question."

"Well, I'm for Athens," quoth another bird;
Extremely pleasant is the Greek metropolis,
Dear Procne's wailings long ago it heard;
And I've a cosy nest in the Acropolis."

"I'm for Stamboul," thus twittered Number Three;
"I like the Turks, who desperately tore an Enormous slice from Europe. Then, you see,
I'm rather heterodox, and love the Koran."

Another said, "Afar in Eastern land
Tartars would snatch old England's gold tiara;
I mean to fly straight off to Samarcand,
And watch the Russian armies through Bokhara."

"Away! away! and at your swiftest pace!
Come back, and tell what's done and who is undone,"
So spake the sagest of the swallow race;
"I'm tired of travel, and shall stay in London."

[From the Philadelphia Inquirer.]

KISHACOQUILLAS.

Kishacoquillas! beautiful word,
Soft as the river it christens,
That drops from the mountain down like a bird,
In trills of natural melody heard,
Saying to any who listens
Under the hemlocks, over the willows—
"Kishacoquillas!"

Once, when a boy, I strayed from thy rills,
Far in the green Alleghanies,
Adown through the cleft of the wild grey hills,
To the golden valley of brooks and mills,
Where the strong Juniata's refrain is Waiting to bear thee away on his billows—
"Kishacoquillas!"

Shrill the bald eagle screamed to tear
Thy silvery trout he had taken;
The eyes of the red fox winked from his lair;
Deep in thy sands were the tracks of the bear:
By the stag's tall antlers shaken,
The boughs of the beeches murmured to thrill us;
"Kishacoquillas!"

Down the long aisle of ash and oak
Shyly the deer were grazing;
Cherrily echoed the lumbermen's stroke;
Bluely arose their camp-fire smoke;
Dreamy by distance the song they were raising;
Thou with thy life in thy name seemed to thrill us;
"Kishacoquillas!"

Called the young quail from the mossy brake;
The woodcock whirring a soaring;
Rang his alarm the rattlesnake;
The cataract climbed the beard of the lake;
The old red mill slept a snoring;
Bending the cattle drank under the willows,
"Kishacoquillas!"

Sweeter thy water than sugar that drips
In the cup of thy maples wounded!
Sweet as kisses on maiden lips
Thy name, that is music to him who sips
Each time that its prattle is sounded,
Liquid and loving, like thee to thrill us,
"Kishacoquillas!"

GEORGE ALFRED TOWNSEND.

A SEA SICK TRAGEDIAN.

Sea sickness is a sad leveler, to which the strongest minds succumb, leaving nothing but the desire to touch terra firma again. An eminent artist, who has recently made a most successful tour in California, returned East by steamer. Scarcely had the ship got out of sight of land before the Thespian was laid by the heels with mal du mer. In the depths of his despair he called for the Captain, and when that worthy arrived, the tragedian gazed at him for a few moments and then asked:

"Ar-r-e—you the Captain?"

"I have that honor," said the son of Neptune.

"Ver-r-y well—sir. I want you to run this blasted ship ashore. I'll pay for her, hull, engines and cargo."

The Captain smiled and told his unhappy passenger it was impossible.

"Ver-r-y well, sir-r-r. Tie her to a rock, then, and stop this blasted rolling."

Being assured that this was also impossible, the wretched actor retired to his stateroom, and lying there in mortal agony, cursed the sea and all that appertained to it with oaths both loud and deep.

Now, it so happened that the Rev. Mr. Chadband, who had collected a large amount of money in California, to purchase fine tooth combs and tracts for the Digger Indians, was on his way East to invest his funds, and occupied the stateroom next to the actor's. Horrified at the roars of the sick lion, he walked into his stateroom just as he let off another volley of anathemas, which extorted a deep groan from Chadband

"Hallo," said the player, "are you sick?"

"Sick at heart, brother," was the response, "to hear you use such bad language."

"It is a bad habit," said the wretched artist, "but hang it, sir, here I've been turned inside out for three days throwing up everything possible, and if I'm sick any longer, curse me if I don't think I shall throw up my engagement in New York. Blast the sea!"

"Don't, my dear sir, don't curse so. Remember One who was patient under much greater suffering than yours."

The tragedian rose to his full height, and, running his fingers through his hair, as he chewed his voice for a moment, replied:

"I do remember Him, sir-r-r, and I remember that when He was caught at sea, He got out and walked, and I wish I could follow His example in that respect, at least."

Mr. Chadband concluded that any more missionary effort in that direction would not be very profitable.

THE COMING CONGRESS AND THE PRESIDENT.

The Past and the Present.

The adjourned meeting of the first session of the Fortieth Congress will commence on Thursday next, the 21st instant, and end on Saturday, the 30th November. On Monday, the 2d day of December the regular session will commence, when, it is understood, the President's message will be sent in, that being the commencement of the regular session. No message was sent in at the special July session which was not held under any law or usage, nor is any necessary to inaugurate the prolongation of the same session. The July session was held for the purpose of impeaching the President, but it having been deemed advisable to postpone the project, the two houses agreed to adjourn till the 21st of November, when the report of the committee on the judiciary upon the impeachment subject will be received, and will probably occupy the exclusive consideration of Congress during the adjourned session.—The chairman of the judiciary committee is Mr. Wilson, of Iowa, and is understood to be opposed to presenting articles of impeachment, as are also two other members of the committe of five, making, therefore a majority of the committee against that extreme measure. In the event of their refusal to present articles of impeachment, it is believed that other members of the House will attempt to do it independently of the committee; a good deal of excited debate, however, may be anticipated, ending in no decisive action. If the House was not prepared for impeachment in July, but thought it best to wait for the results of the fall elections before coming to a final conclusion, it may be safely predicted that, after the emphatic condemnation which the people, including men of the republican as well as other parties, have uttered against the excesses of radicalism, it will not be deemed in the interest of the party to press impeachment now, though, in its stead, a resolution of censure upon the President may be passed and go upon record.—The effect of such proceedings is likely to prove even more impotent for harm, except to the actors in it, than the famous resolution of censure passed upon General Jackson for the removal of the deposits from the United States Bank by the Senate of the United States, at a time when the Senate was composed of the most illustrious men of the nation.

The resolution charged a high crime upon the President in violating the laws and constitution to obtain power over the public treasure, to the danger of the liberties of the people, and a misdemeanor in dismissing the late Secretary of the Treasury from office. It was thonght by the Senate that the passage of the censure resolution would demolish General Jackson, but it had exactly the opposite effect, and notwithstanding the unprecedented financial distress which then prevailed throughout the country, and the adroit use which was made of it to stir up popular indignation against General Jackson, the instinctive sagacity of the people saw that the senatorial censure was prompted by private griefs of General Jackson's political rivals, and their innate sense of justice and characteristic love of fair play revolted at the trial and condemnation of a man by his avowed enemies. Andrew Jackson stood then, as Andrew Johnson does now, the sole obstacle to the powerful combination which was arrayed against him; but his firmness was equal to the emergency, and he never lost faith in the people, being in the habit of declaring, "The people will take it up after awhile." The people did take it up, and the resolution of censure made him more popular than ever, whilst those who had passed it were politically crippled, and lived to see the day when it was formally expunged from the records of the Senate.

The "protest" that General Jackson addressed to the Senate after its resolution had passed contains many views and arguments not inapplicable to the similar proceeding which is said to be contemplated against President Johnson. He contended that the resolution was essentially judicial, and that though the Senate posesses a high judicial power, it can only be exercised in the cases and under the forms prescribed by the constitution, which is by impeachment; so that to pass a resolution which was in substance an impeachment was to deprive the President of the safeguards and formalities which the constitution has connected with that power, and which the framers of that instrument supposed to be essential to the protection of the public servant, the attainment of justice, and the dignity and impartiality of the procedure. Seven years afterwards an expunging resolution, which had been originally moved by Thomas H. Benton, who "solitary and alone, set the ball in motion," passed the Senate, which ordered the obnoxious sentence of censure to be enclosed in an oblong square of black lines, and across the face these words written, in strong letters, "Expunged by order of the Senate, this 15th day of March, 1837." It is within the bounds of probability that, seven years hence, there will be so complete a revolution of public sentiment in this country, and such a sweeping transfer of political power to other hands that any resolution which Congress may now enter upon its records censuring President Johnson for offenses which are held to be impeachable, and condemning him without an opportunity of being heard in his own defence, will meet the same fate with the resolution censuring President Jackson.

We suppose very little hope is entertained by any one that the scheme military reconstruction will be in any degree relaxed by Congress, or even modified, except to make it more rigorous and proscriptive. They look to the voting element, which is secured by this scheme, to counterbalance the losses which they may suffer in the North, and to prolong their political ascendency in the legislation of the country, even though they should fail in the election of the next President. We have only to know what are their party interests to be assured of the course they will pursue. As to the Stevens-Sumner project to regulate suffrage in the States, it is believed that a two-third majority cannot be had in its support; but it is said that an attempt will be made to pass a law establishing universal suffrage in elections for Congress and for presidential electors. It would be a vast relief to the country if its representatives at Washington, instead of sacrificing every other interest to the perpetuation of political power, would apply themselves at once to the work of reform upon the subject of taxation and currency, provide means for its own officers, practice economy in appropriations, and in good faith try to restore the Union, and with it the country to its wonted prosperity.—Baltimore Sun.

A WOMAN MARRIES A WOMAN.

A person was brought before the police court at Syracuse the other day on a charge of wearing male apparel, while being with a female, of making love to the Syracuse belles "on false pretences," and marrying a woman, &c. There is no doubt of her femininity, though her counterfeit of a man is said to be perfect. She is English, is supposed to be forty years of age, went by the name of A. Clark, and received remittances from England, part of which goes to the support of a sister in Syracuse. In reply to the question, "Are you a male or female?' she answered: Your officers can tell you," or "have told you." She refused to give any more direct answer to the inquiry in relation to her sex, and was committed for further examination. A few weeks since she assumed the garb of a man, and made the acquaintance of a young lady named Miss Lewis. After a brief courtship they were married, and the parties have since resided together as husband and wife. The marriage ceremony was preformed about three weeks since, and the bride's father suspecting something wrong about his new son-in law, obtained a private interview, and informed her of his suspicion that she was not what she pretended to be. At first she claimed that she was a man, but on closer questioning admitted that she was a female. She has marked features, prominent nose, high cheek bones, black hair, worn long (for a man,) and curling at the end, and apparently brushed and oiled with care. She wears a glazed cap, blue coat, blue shirt, dark vest, snuff-colored pants, gaiter boots, and a shawl over her shoulders; speaks with considerable confidence, and is not very communicative. It is understood that when this eccentric woman first came to the house of the bride's father, she was dressed in female apparel, and her clothing was changed to man's attire with the knowledge of the family. The probability is that the family supposed that she was assuming the proper habiliments of her sex and her waman's dress was a disguise. The lady's father was averse to the match, but the bride still clings to her woman husband, and claims that the arrest is a conspiracy against them. They were allowed to meet in the anterooms of the police office, and embraced each other with the greatest marks of affection.

THE DEVIL IN HIS BREECHES.—Daniel Webster had an anecdote of old Father Searl, the minister of his boyhood, which is too good to be lost. It was customary then to wear buckskin breeches in cool weather. One Sunday morning in the autumn, Father Searl brought his breeches down from the garret, but the wasps had taken possession during the summer, and were having a nice time of it in them. By dint of effort he got out the intruders and dressed for meeting. But while reading the scriptures to the congregation he felt a dagger from one of the enraged small waisted fellows, and jumped around the pulpit slapping his thigh. But the more he jumped the more they stung. The people thought him crazy, but he explained the matter by saying:

"Brethren, don't be alarmed; the word of the Lord is in my mouth, but the devil is in my breeches!" Webster always told it with great glee to the ministers.

THE WRONG TICKET COULDN'T GO IN.—A freedman, on returning home from the election last week, was asked what he did. He replied he did not know any more than a child.

"Well," inquired his interrogator, "how do you know whether you voted right or wrong?"

"Oh, I knows I voted right, 'cause I had the right ticket, as no other could be put in—for I seed it tried. The wrong ticket couldn't go in!"—La Grange (Ga.) Reporter.

CONCERNING THE SOUL.—A preacher once endevored to teach some children that their souls would live after they were dead. They heard his words, but did not understand them. He was too abstract; he shot over their heads.

Snatching his watch from his pocket, he said, "James, what is this I hold in my hand?"

"A watch, sir."

"A little clock," said another.

"Do you see it?"

"Yes, sir."

"How do you know it is a watch?"

"It ticks, sir."

"Very well; can any of you hear it tick?"

All listen. After a little pause:

"Yes, sir we hear it."

Then he took off the case, and held that in one hand and the watch in the other.

'Now, children, which is the watch?'

"The little one in your hand, sir."

"Very well, again. Now, I will put the case aside—put it way down there, in my hat. Now, let us see if you can hear the ticking?"

"Yes, sir, we hear it," cried several voices.

"Well, the watch can tick, and go and keep time, you can see, when the case is off, and put in my hat. So it is with you, children. Your body is nothing but the case. The soul is inside. The case may be taken off, and buried in the ground; may be cast into the fire, or thrown into the sea, but the soul will live on just as well without the body, as this watch will keep on ticking when the case is laid aside."

Now that illustration and that thought will live in the minds of those children who heard it forever.

PLUMP WOMEN.—The New York Gazette concludes a plea for 'plump women' as follows: But whatever education our girls have, let us have less of it. American girls are notorious for their pallor and frailty and tendency to wither and lose their charms at an early age. This country has no greater want at the present time than of plump girls and plump women. Let us have them plump and healthy, whether they know anything or not. We can teach their children what they do not know, if neccessary: by all means let us have rosy blossoming, solid women. The Pacific railroad is not half so important to the prosperity of this country as the aggregate avoirdupois of its women. The female sex of America ought to weigh at least half as much again as it does.

TO KEEP POTATOES FROM ROTTING.—The Germantown Telegraph is authority for the following which may be worth something to farmers whose potatoes already show signs of rotting badly. The surest protection against the rotting of potatoes, after being harvested, there is no question, we think, is air slacked lime. Let the lime be sprinkled over the bottom of the bin before filling, and repeat the application at each foot of potatoes until the bin is filled up. The quantity is what a farmer would call a good sprinkling. Potatoes should be excluded from the light, and where convenient, covered with old carpet. When buried out of doors, a light dry spot should be selected, which can be thoroughly drained, and then pursue the same with the lime as before. A vent must of course be left as in the top for the escape of the confined air.

GOOD HAMS.—After hams have been smoked, take them down, thoroughly rub the flesh part with molasses, then immediately apply ground or powdered pepper, by sprinkling on as much as will stick to the molasses, when they must be hung up again to dry. Hams treated in this manner will keep perfectly sweet for two or three years. This must be done before the fly deposits its eggs, for after that is done, nothing will stop their ravages. The above has been practiced in our section for more than twenty years. No soaking is necessary. One pint of molasses and one and a half or two pounds of black pepper are sufficient for any ordinary family. Try this plan, if you want good sweet hams.—Cor. Rural American.

SALT AND ASHES FOR HORSES.—Those keeping horses, should, twice a week, throw in a handful to each of salt and ashes. Mix them by putting in three parts of salt to one of ashes. Horses relish this, and it will keep their hair soft and fine. It will prevent bots, colic, &c. A little ground sulphur mixed with salt and ashes, and given once in two or three weeks, is also beneficial. All domestic animals will be thus benefited.—American Farmer.

HINTS TO HOUSEKEEPERS.—The following are a few valuable household hints, which are worth preserving:

Save your suds for garden plants, or for garden yards, when sandy.

Wash your tea-trays with cold suds, polish with a little flour and rub with a dry cloth.

Frozen potatoes make more starch than fresh ones; they also make nice cakes.

A hot shovel held over varnished furniture will take out the white spots.

A bit of glue dissolved in skimmed milk and water will restore old crape.

Always mend the clothes before washing them.

AT a Sabbath school, not many miles distant, only a few weeks ago, a reverend gentleman, after exhorting the school most piously and affectionately for a half hour, by way of giving the pupils a chance to contribute their mite to the general glory of the occasion, requested them to sing Jordan for him, expecting, of course, to hear, On Jordan's stormy banks I stand, &c. when, to his surprise, the scholars, with one accord, struck up, Jordan am a hard road to travel, &c.

THE GREAT RADICAL PRINCIPLE.

It appears that Negro Suffrage is beyond doubt, a plank in the Radical platform. It is the "great principle" (to quote Greeley et al.) "which alone can lead the Republicans to victory." To be sure, there is another principle, that of retaining the spoils, which animates the minds of many of the Radical persuasion, but even some of these begin to think that the easiest way to continue their party in office, is to give the Negro the balance of power. Upon this point we quote the Philadelphia Morning Post, a Republican journal of the first water:

But the gentlemen who propose to take negro suffrage out of our platform, would leave the party without a mission. They would vainly seek to rally the people by loud denunciations of treason, and boasts of Republican services to the Union. No thinking man now troubles himself about the crimes of Jeff. Davis, and the victories of the war, except so far as they are matters of history. We cannot carry them into a political campaign. The issue before the country is negro suffrage, and the party cannot evade it, without ceasing to be a party.

This is, to say the least of it, straightforward and ingenuous. Here we have a leading "Republican" journal confessing, in so many words, that "the issue before the country is negro suffrage," and that "the party cannot evade it, without ceasing to be a party." Let, then, this issue be as squarely met as it is boldly made. Let the line be drawn between those who would prostitute the ballot-box to the base uses of ignorance and degradation, and those who would keep it pure and undefiled in the hands of the white man. Neighbors! Friends! You must be on one side of this line or the other. Will you, rather than give up your adherence to your party, see the fate of your country placed in the hands of an ignorant, debased and semi-barbarous race, or will you say, with us, in answer to the Philadelphia Post, If the Republican party cannot exist without Negro Suffrage, in God's name, let it "cease to be a party."

CAUGHT IN THEIR OWN TRAP.

Last summer, when the Kentucky delegation to Congress, presented their credentials to that body, the Radicals excluded them and referred their case to a special committee. On Thursday last, the Tennessee Brownlow delegation presented themselves for admission, and the Democrats asked that the same test be applied to them as was applied to the Kentucky members. Now, nearly all of the Brownlow Congressmen are ex-rebels, some of them having served in the Confederate army, but as they now belong to the Radical church and were elected by negroes, the Republican leaders in Congress squirmed "muchly" when they were asked to examine into these white-washed "Johnnies'" antecedents. The object of the Democrats was to try the consistency of the Radicals, and having brought the matter before the House, they permitted the latter to settle the question among themselves, they, (the Democrats) standing by their record in the Kentucky case. It was shown that Stokes, Arnell, Mullins and Butler, of the Brownlow delegation, were active participants in the rebellion, but the House voted to admit all of them, except Butler, whose record was so outrageously bad, that even Radical stomachs were nauseated by it, and his case was referred to a committee. But, doubtless, this Butler will be also admitted in due time. Nevertheless, the Rads. have been taught that "what's sauce for the goose, is sauce for the gander."

DEATH OF HALLECK, THE POET.

Fitz Greene Halleck is dead.—This venerable man, who "came down to us from a former generation," died at his residence in Guilford, Conn., on Wednesday, Nov. 20th, aged 72 years. There is something in the name of Halleck which is dear to the heart. As a poet Americans are justly proud of him; as a man we love, as well as honor him. Endowed with noble gifts of mind, he shunned notoriety and cared nothing for fame. He quietly pursued his business, scorning alike the honor and the gain which a life devoted to letters would have brought him. He wrote only for his own pleasure, or that of a few select friends. But he became famous in spite of himself. "Marco Bozzaris" introduced him to thousands of delighted readers, and when he wrote of his dear dead friend, Joseph Rodman Drake,

"Green be the turf above thee,
Friend of my better days,
None know thee but to love thee,
Nor named thee but to praise," his name was made immortal in the pages of American literature. But he is dead. May his rest be as peaceful as his life was noble.

CONGRESS.

This restless body of uneasy politicians assembled at Washington, on Thursday last. The first thing done in the Senate, was the presentation of the following bill by Senator Sumner of Massachusetts:

Be it enacted, &c., That the word "white" wherever it occurs in the laws relating to the District of Columbia, or in the charter or ordinances of the city of Washington or Georgetown, and operates as a limitation on the right of any elector of said district or of either of said cities to hold any office or to be selected and to serve as a juror be and the same is hereby repealed; and it shall be unlawful for any person or officer to enforce or attempt to enforce said limitation after the passage of this act.

Thus, the leader of the Republican party, steps forward to re-open the Negro question, and to make further progress in the Africanizing of our civilization. His aim and that of his coadjutors now is, to place the negro in the jury-box and upon the judge's bench. Let them go on. "Whom the gods wish to destroy they first make mad," and Sumner and his confreres are as mad as March hares.--In the House the white-washed "disloyalty" of the Brownlow rebel Congressmen from Tennessee, was fully exposed by the Democrats. Nothing else of importance was transacted. Impeachment seems to hang fire. Thad. Stevens was in his place in the House. Judge Woodward and the California members were sworn in. It is not thought that there will be any legislation until the Constitutional session in December. It looks as though the Radicals forced this short and useless session only to show that they can and will violate the Constitution at their pleasure.

TROUBLE.

There appears to be some trouble among the Radical leaders, as to what should be the course of Congress in regard to "Reconstruction," as well as to what ought to be the character of their Presidential platform. The recent elections have evidently knocked the breath out of some of them. The following from a double-leaded editorial which appeared in the Philadelphia Post of Thursday last, will give the reader some insight into the tribulations of the Radical managers:

"As it is, the party is drifting away with the tides. The Conservatives are misleading the weak and timorous. Some of our leaders say that emancipation is enough for the colored man, as if citizenship without the ballot were not the veriest farce that could be enacted. Others declare that the Republican party must haul down its flag, and that Congress must modify the plan of reconstruction. Unless there is a speedy end put to this cowardice, Republicanism is doomed."

The Old Guard for December.—The December number of The Old Guard is now ready, containing the concluding chapters of Wm. Gilmore Simms' story of "Joscelyn."—The magazine opens with an article by the editor "What the South has not Lost by the War;" "The Battles of Virginia," by John Esten Cooke, will be concluded in January, the present number containing an account of Early's Campaign in the Shenandoah Valley. "Spoils, by a receiver," "Speculative Inquiry into the Old Principle," a "Sonnet," and the Book and Editor's Tables complete a very readable number. The January number, now in press, will contain the first chapters of one of the most thrilling popular historical novels ever published in this country, covering the history of the fall of the Italian States, under the rule of Cæsar Borgia. The next volume of The Old Guard will also contain a series of articles from the pen of Dr. Van Evrie, on the Races of Men, which will be illustrated by beautiful plates of the different types of mankind. Single copies, 25c. See prospectus for 1868. Van Evrie, Horton & Co., publishers, No. 162 Nassau Street, New York.

The Galaxy, for December, contians "Democracy," by Walt Whitman; "Our Golden Wedding," by T. W. Parsons; "The Drunken Drama," by Olive Logan; "Boating," by D. M.; "Words and Their Uses," by Richard Grant; "A Note or Two on Music," by M. A. Cary; "Small Planters in the South," by James O. Noyes; "How the Spirits Tormented Me," by Richard Frothingham; "Steven Lawrence, Yeoman," by Mrs. Edwards; "Waiting for the Verdict, by Mrs. R. H. Davis; and "Nebulæ," by the Editor. This number completes the fourth volume of The Galaxy. The price of The Galaxy is $3.50 a year; two copies for $6. Address W. C. & F. P. CHURCH, No. 39 Park Row, New York.

A Radical View of a Political Preacher.—We are glad to see that the House of Representatives is still to enjoy the invaluable services of Rev. Mr. Boynton as chaplain. It is that gentleman's habitual practice to thank the Almighty pretty regularly for whatever may have been done in Congress which accords with his own views of political and party propriety, and in this way the members are properly posted as to his opinion of their acts. As the chaplain has no other mode of making political speeches in the House, not being a member thereof, it is exceedingly clever in him to have discovered so excellent a dodge. We observed that in Thursday's opening prayer he offered a resolution of thanks for the establishment of universal negro suffrage.—N. Y. Times, radical.

—It is said that seventy families of Johnstown, Pa., intend to emigrate in a body to Kentucky, in which State, upon the Licking River, they have purchased 28,000 acres of land for $14,000.

NEWS AND OTHER ITEMS.

—P. T. Barnum is not contesting the election of his Democratic namesake in Connecticut, but the Rumpers, always alive to the importance of increasing their power and defeating the action of the people at the ballot-box, intend to declare the seat vacant, anyhow. From this it is evident that the great humbug showman has more honor, honesty and respect for the popular will than the professional plunderers who rule the Radical party.

—Helper, the author of the "Impending Crisis,"—a book which before the war added fuel to the flames of Abolitionism—has written a long letter to the National Intelligencer, in which he recants from his former opinions and strongly opposes the Radical plan of placing the foot of the negro upon the neck of the white man. He declares that he never dreamt that Abolitionism would extend so far or produce the evils that it has.

—A respectable widow lady, by the name of Hester Albertson, aged seventy years, was found lying dead in the doorway of her house in Morrisville, Penn., on last Tuesday morning, with her throat cut. She had arisen during the night, and committed the fearful deed with a bucher knife, completely severing the jugular vein. She had for a number of years been very infirm, so as to be able to repose only by sitting upright in her chair, and the supposition is that, tired of the painful life of constant affliction she was doomed to lead, she in desperation terminated her existence in the bloody manner stated.

—Kerosene still explodes when carelessly handled. The family of Adam Christman, of Franklin, Wis., recently met with a serious accident from the explosion of a kerosene lamp, by which four of the members of the family, the mother and three children, were injured, from the effects of which one of the children, a little girl, died the next morning, and another little girl was so severely injured that little hope was entertained of her recovery.

—From Mexico we learn that the Juarez Government has tendered to Admiral Tegethoff a detachment of Mexican troops to act as an escort to the body of Maximilian as far as Vera Cruz, but all public demonstrations on the line of route are strictly forbidden. There are indications of another struggle for supremacy among the military chieftains, and it is thought by some that a new revolutionary movement will occur before long —The hurricane which swept over the West Indies on the 29th ult., was the most distructive in the memory of man. On the Island of Tortola not a house is left standing. The plantations were swept bare, and hundreds of lives were lost. On St. Thomas and other islands the destruction of property and life was very great—too great to form any estimate at present.

—Assassinations in Utah have been suddenly arrested by a telegram from General Sherman to Brigham Young, announcing to that potentate that he will be held personally responsible for any other murder similar to that of Dr. Robertson's. There seems to be no doubt of the existence in Utah of a sworn band to assassinate any one who may be indicated by the head of the Mormon Church.

—The price of wheat in England has doubled since 1864 and is now higher than it has been since the close of the Crimean war. In the first fortnight of October it rose on the average fifteen per cent. The crop is said to turn out, on threshing, a far lighter yield than was anticipated, and French buyers are still active in their operations in the English wheat market.

—The announcement that yellow fever is no longer epidemic in New Orleans has sent thousands of people and hundreds of families back to their homes from the North. The New Orleans papers contain encouraging accounts of the winter business prospect. Places of amusement are well patronized; the hotels are filling up, and, as the fever has now disappeared, the health of the city is unusually good.

—The amount demanded of the United States for the cession of the Danish West India Islands is stated in the treaty to be $7,500,000 in gold. Official statistics show that one or another of the Islands suffer every year from a hurricane, and it is highly probable that the hurricanes, having been in arrears for some time, are now paying up.

—All that a Richmond negro has to do to secure a good berth at loafing, with plenty to eat, drink and wear, and pocket-money to spend, is swear that he was discharged from work for voting the Radical ticket. Scores of lazy, thieving darkies have been detected plying that vocation with success

—The New York Independent (Radical) says "Congress will not pass a universal suffrage bill until after the Presidential election." Then it won't pass such a bill at all, because the next Congress will be a white man's Congress.

—The white people of South Carolina almost unanimously refused to vote at the satrap's election. In North Carolina there was almost the same unanimity in staying away from the "polls."

—In South Carolina the election returns from eight courthouses show only eleven white votes cast to three thousand seven hundred and forty five negro votes. So far as heard from, not a single vote has been cast against a Convention.

—The Newark, New Jersey, Advertiser (Radical) says that the complete returns of the State show the following result: Democratic vote 67,468; Radical vote 51,114; Democratic majority 16,354—a gain of 18,600 on 1866. The Radical loss has been 14,362 and the Democratic gain 3,467.

More Negro Outrages---The Soil of Pennsylvania coming in for a share.

The brutal outrages committed by Southern Negroes upon white women from time to time, seems to be spreading Northward. The Lancaster Intelligencer of Monday, has the following:

On last Monday morning a brutal outrage upon a young white girl was attempted by a negro near Penningtonville, Chester county. The particulars are about as follows:—A Miss McDonald, a young lady of the highest respectability, belonging to a good family, was engaged in teaching school at the village of Limeville. Owing to the sickness of a sister she had been in the habit of returning to her father's house at Penningtonville each evening, and going back to school in the morning. On Thursday morning, at a comparatively unfrequented part of the road, a negro sprang from behind a tree with a pistol in his hand. He seized her and threw her down, indulging in brutal threats as she struggled with him.—When she was almost exhausted, some noise startled the negro and he sprang to his feet. Miss McDonald immediately started towards home, but the negro met her with his pistol in hand, and swore he would blow her brains out if she ever mentioned the matter, even though it might be twenty years after. In her fright she turned towards Limeville, and proceeded to that place. On making known to some of her friends what had occurred, they at once sent her in a carriage to Penningtonville. The father and brothers of the young lady, with some others, started out in search of the negro, and arrested him at the house of a Miss Fulton, with whom he lived. On being brought before the young lady, she at once recognized him as the brute who had assaulted her. Her relatives would have taken summary vengeance upon him but for the interference of other parties. The negro was committed to jail to await his trial by justice Rambo. It is to be hoped his sentence may be made sufficiently severe to deter others of his class from acts which have come to be very common of late.

The Fort Delaware Frauds.—The Age of the 13th publishes all the certificates, affidavits, company rolls, and other documents relative to the gross election frauds perpetrated by one "Henry Mitchell, Esquire," at Fort Delaware, under commission from Gov. Geary. From these documents it appears that 63 votes were returned from Company K by the commissioner. Of this number Maj. C. H. Morgan, commanding at the Fort, certifies 54 are fictitious. From Company L 60 votes were returned, and Major Morgan certifies that 56 out of that number are fictitious. Cap. Hasbrouck, and Sergeant Fitzgerald, of Co. K, certify that 28 men voted in that company, only 6 of whom enlisted in Pennsylvania. The rest were enlisted as follows; 14 from New York, 3 from New England, 4 from Delaware, and 1 from the District of Columbia. Of the four who voted in Co. L, three are minors, and none enlisted from Pennsylvania.—One is a Virginian, another a New Yorker, and the other two enlisted in Harrisburg and Lancaster. Out of the whole number returned (123) only 8 are Pennsylvanians—two of them minors—and none belong to Philadelphia. The soldiers whose names are attached to the return papers as officers testify that they did not put their signatures to any returns, and that no oaths or affirmations were administered to those whom the "commissioner" designated as judges and clerks. A more glaring fraud than this was probably never successfully carried out at any election in this State. Yet there has been no disposition manifested by the District Attorney of Philadelphia to bring the guilty party or parties to punishment, although, as the Age observes, he was quick to prosecute "a miserable, half-witted creature, whose sudden offence, under intemperate influence, was one illegal vote."—Pat. & Union.

The Meteors.—The astronomers of the United States and Europe, it seems, were well prepared for a series of observations of the expected meteors on the morning of the 14th. Those in the United States were not disappointed. There were scientific watchers at Philadelphia; Naval Observatory, Washington; Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; Dudley Observatory, New York; Yale College, New Haven, Conn.; University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, and perhaps at other places. The annexed statement is interesting:

The prevailing belief now is that these meteoric showers are caused by the passage of the earth and its atmosphere through a stream of nebulous or cloudy matter, loosely aggregated, which stream has an orbit reaching in a long ellipse from a perihelion point near the orbit of the planet Uranus. From the length of time—say an hour and a half—taken up by the earth in passing through the denser part of the shower, the thickness of the streams is believed to be about three times the diameter of the earth, or about 30,000 miles. The length of the stream of meteoric matter must be many millions of miles, as it consumes some eight or nine years in passing that part of the earth's orbit which our planet reaches about the 12th to the 15th of November each year. This is held to account for the great difference in the display, in different years, as the earth sometimes passes through the very center of the stream, as in 1832 and in 1833, and at others through the thinner sides of it, as in 1866 and 1867. With respect to the distance of the meteors from the surface of the earth at the time of their appearance there is at least one satisfactory observation on record. This one was "timed" and its path noted, during the shower of 1866, at Sunderland, England and Aberdeen, Edinburgh, and Glasgow, Scotland. Its altitude was ascertained to have been from 51 to 57 miles, over a spot near Dundee, in Scotland.

It was partly with reference to this interesting point that professors at Philadelphia, in concert with others at Washington and New Haven, were timing and marking the paths of the meteors of Thursday morning. At Philadelphia, according to the Ledger, the observations were quite successful, and the exact time and paths of a large number of the meteors were mapped. These all show the point of radiation to be in the centre of the space enclosed by the group of stars popularly known as the "Sickle," in the constellation Leo. Astronomically stated, it is near the star x, centre of Leo's Sickle, or in right ascension 148 degrees, and north declination about 24 degrees. This coincides with the radiation point of the showers as indicated by Professor Twining after the great shower of 1833, and it is vertically over the precise point in space towards which the earth is moving in its orbit at the time.—Baltimore Sun.

Jefferson Davis.

Richmond, Novem'r 22.—Jefferson Davis arrived here this morning, on the New York steamer, and is stopping at the house of his counsel, Robert Ould.

Jefferson Davis left Canada last Tuesday, and, to avoid attracting attention in New York, went on board the steamer Albemarle at her sailing hour, 6 o'clock on Wednesday night. He was unaccompanied by any one. On his arrival here he took a coach and drove to Judge Ould's house. No one expected his arrival to-day, not even his counsel. His lawyers to-night deny that they have any intention of resisting a trial before Judge Underwood. Davis is in excellent health, and is quite cheerful. Many sympathizing friends are calling upon him to-night.

Prairie Fires in the West.

St. Louis, November 22.—Prairie fires still continue to rage in nearly all sections of the West. They have been particularly severe in Western and Northern Missouri and Kansas, in many instances actually devastating whole farms. Immense amounts of property have been destroyed. The swamps in Southern Missouri are said to be a mass of fire, and along the Illinois Central Railroad for a distance of one hundred miles, the prairies are burning, and in Union county, Illinois, the flames extended into the woods, which are now burning. No relief is looked for until a heavy general rain falls, of which there is no immediate prospect.

The Poor of Paris.—It appears from official statistics that the number of indigent families in Paris, inscribed in the books of the establishment, was in 1866, 40,644, comprising 105,119 individuals. Compared with 1863, this shows an increase of 588 households and 3,549 persons. In 1853 there was one indigent individual in every 16 inhabitants, while in 1865 the proportion was only one in 17. Sick persons to the number of 57,452 were attended at their own houses, of whom 27,000 were inscribed, 9,244 women were delivered; and the total number relieved by the bureaux de bienfaisance was 153,-000. In the various hospitals and asylums 18,329 beds are provided for 1868 and bread to the value of 2,515,000 francs will be furnished; in addition to 1,326 francs' worth of wine, and 2,089-535 francs of butcher's meat.

Gold in Mercer County.—The discovery of a rich vein of gold quartz is reported to have been made on the grounds of Col. James Hemphill, at West Middlesex, Mercer county, by some workmen engaged in sinking a shaft for ore or coal. The workmen had bored down about one hundred feet below the coal level in that basin, when they struck a vein of rock, strongly intermixed with a substance at first supposed to be sulphur. Upon examination of the rock by Colonel Hemphill and his superintendent, and after several tests, they pronounced it to be gold of superior quality, and capable of yielding five thousand dollars to the ton. The rock is about the same as that in which the Greene county gold was found.

Advertising Sales of Property.—The Lancaster Intelligencer, in speaking of the importance and great advantage of advertising sales of property in the newspapers, in addition to having hand bills printed, very truthfully says: "A newspaper is read by hundreds who never see the attractive bills which are posted in the taverns and the store rooms. Every subscriber to a county paper reads all such advertisments carefully. He knows who is selling out and exactly what is offered for sale. The advertisements are a topic of conversation when friends meet, and arrangements are made for attending sales. The result is a large crowd, spirited bidding, and a realization of ten, twenty or fifty times what it costs to advertise. No money is so sure to return a large profit as that spent on printer's ink. A single additional bidder on a single article will pay all it costs to advertise a sale of personal property in a newspaper. Is it not strange, then, that any one should fail to advertise? Let our friends think of the matter."

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Consumption Curable by Dr Schenck's Medicines.—To cure consumption, the system must be prepared so that the lungs will heal. To accomplish this, the liver and stomach must first be cleansed and an appetite created for good wholesome food, which, by these medicines will be digested properly, and good healthy blood made; thus building up the constitution. Schenck's Mandrake Pills cleanse the stomach of all bilious or mucous accumulations; and, by using the Sea Weed Tonic in connection, the appetite is restored.

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup is nutritious as well as medicinal, and, by using the three remedies, all impurities are expelled from the system, and good, wholesome blood made, which will repel all disease. If patients will take these medicines according to directions, consumption very frequently in its last stage yields readily to their action.—Take the pills frequently, to cleanse the liver and stomach. It does not follow that because the bowels are not costive they are not required, for sometimes in diarrhœa they are necessary. The stomach must be kept healthy, and an appetite created to allow the Pulmonic Syrup to act on the respiratory organs properly and allay any irritation. Then all that is required to perform a permanent cure is, to prevent taking cold. Exercise about the rooms as much as possible, eat all the richest food—fat meat, game, and, in fact, anything the appetite craves; but be particular and masticate well. 2d w

THE BEDFORD COUNTY POOR HOUSE.—THE GRAND JURY DECLARE IT A NUISANCE.—At the late term of Court, the Grand Jury made their customary visit to the Poor House, and after examining that institution, they reported it to the Court as a public nuisance. That is, they declared the building in which the paupers are lodged, to be unfit for the purpose for which it is used. Of course, the Grand Jury intended no reflection upon the management of the Poor House, for it is admitted by all parties that no complaint can be justly made in reference to that. But the building itself is properly characterized as a "nuisance." Years ago we urged the propriety of selling the present Poor House property and purchasing a farm of moderate size, whereupon a new and commodious building might be erected. We still think that such a course would be wise. It is true that the construction of a new Poor House would entail considerable expense upon the county; but we can better afford to pay a little additional tax, than to bear the shame of failing to make proper provision for the shelter and maintenance of our unfortunate poor. We estimate that the cost of a suitable Poor House building, distributed equally among the taxables of the county, would be about $3 to each taxpayer. Who would not be willing to contribute his share of a fund to be devoted to so humane and praise-worthy a purpose?

Formerly there were grave doubts as to whether the County authorities possessed the power to sell the Poor House property, or to erect a new building. It seemed beyond dispute that the Poor Directors possessed no such power. Hence efforts were made to induce the Legislature to pass a law conferring such power upon the Poor Directors. But for reasons best known to those who procured the defeat of those efforts, no such law was passed. In 1866, however, a general law, conferring upon the County Commissioners the power to buy and sell lands, and erect buildings, for the use of the Poor, was enacted. This law is as follows:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted, &c., That in all cases where a poor house, or houses, have been, or shall hereafter be erected, in any county or counties, under any law of this Commonwealth, and the said buildings are found insufficient for the purpose of comfortably sheltering and maintaining the poor, sick, or insane, of the proper county, it shall be lawful for the county commissioners to erect new, or additional, buildings, for such purposes, or for hospitals, to prevent the spread of infectious diseases among those sent to such institutions: Provided, That before erecting any such new, or additional, buildings, the construction thereof shall be recommended by the directors of the poor, a grand jury, and the court of quarter sessions of the proper county.

SECTION 2. Where the land connected with any poor house, within the State, shall be deemed insufficient for the comfortable and profitable maintenance and occupation of the poor, or where the land connected therewith shall be found to be useless, unnecessary, or unprofitable, it shall be lawful, in the first-named instance, for the county commissioners, on the recommendation of the directors of the poor, a grand jury, and the court of quarter sessions of the proper county, to purchase such additional quantity of land, not exceeding two hundred acres, and to take a deed, or deeds therefor, in the name of the county, as shall be thought necessary, and in the second-named instance, on like recommendation, to sell, at public sale, after due notice, such parts of the land held, as shall be thought unnecessary and unprofitable to be held, and execute a deed, or deeds, therefor, to the purchaser.

This is a carefully guarded law, and in our opinion, in every respect a good one. Whilst it gives the commissioners the power to buy and sell Poor house lands and to construct Poor house buildings, it permits them to exercise that power only after the Directors of the Poor, a Grand Jury and the Court of Quarter Sessions shall have recommended them to buy, sell or build.—This safe-guard is eminently proper.

Now, the Grand Jury have declared the present Poor House building a nuisance. We understand the Court of Quarter Sessions hold the same opinion. That the board of Poor Directors will coincide in that view, there can be no doubt. Hence it is reasonably certain that a new Poor House building will be erected. The question now arises, shall it be placed upon the present Poor House lands, or shall those lands be sold and others purchased upon which to erect the new building? For our part, we think it would be of advantage to the county, as well as to the poor, if the present Poor House property be sold and the new building erected upon a good farm of about one hundred acres, not too near to, nor too far from, the county seat. But, whatever action is to be taken in regard to this matter, should be taken at once. Let there be no delay.

DIED.

MANN—On the 18th inst., Mrs. Sarah, relict of David Mann, in the 80th year of her age. Mrs Mann was one of the excellent of the earth. She was one of the most humble and confiding Christians. In Bedford, where she lived for many years, she deservedly enjoyed the highest esteem of a very large circle of acquaintance. In her death, the Reformed Church, to which she belonged, has lost an highly esteemed member, and its pastor, a sincere friend. Her last sickness was protracted and sometimes with much suffering, but she bore it all with that perfect resignation to the will of God which only the true Christian can do. Those who mourn her departure, will find much comfort in the recollection of her many virtues and in her meek exercise of all the Chirstian graces. She now rests in peace as to her body and in happiness as to her soul.

IMLER—On the 18th of November, 1867, in Bedford Township, Thomas Imler aged 50 years, 6 months and 17 days.

MEDICAL.—DR. A. S. SMITH, having resumed the Practice of Medicine, solicits a generous share of the patronage of the community Office in his residence, at St Clairsville.
He would call the attention of the public, and to those more immediately interested to the following: His health being too delicate to bear much of the fatigues and exposures consequent on general practice, he has adopted a speciality in the profession.
Soon after commencing practice, some twenty years since, he was attracted by the almost universality of female complaints, both in the married and single state. Partly from natural inclination, and in order to obtain success in practice, these complaints were made the subject of incessant study. These alterations, displacements and deranged functions of the organs peculiar to the female, are owing to that refined sense of delicacy on the part of the female, who, ignorant of the consequences, prefers to suffer in silence rather than expose her situation. Seldom cured by the general practitioner, who is prevented by this delicacy from acquiring by experience that tact and skill necessary to discriminate the exact change present, and contents himself with prescribing for the deranged functions, or overlooking the cause, simply for attendant nervous disorders, founding his prescriptions on a Plethoric Anaemonic state of the general system and the result is no benefit, as the number of the long suffering females bears ample testimony. Believing that he has, from long and special attention paid to them, acquired that skill in discriminating and experience in treating, he solicits the suffering to give him a call. No charges for consultation or examination. Visits made to all parts of the county.
Applications for medicines can be made in writing by accompanying stamp for return letter.—Medicines sent when desired. TERMS invariably cash for all medicines and instruments.

HUNTINGDON, PA.
I have purchased and entirely renovated the large stone and brick building opposite the Pennsylvania Railroad Depot, and have now opened it for the accommodation of the traveling public.—The Carpets, Furniture, Beds and Bedding are entirely new and first class, and I am safe in saying that I can offer accommodations not excelled in Central Pennsylvania.
I refer to my patrons who have formerly known me while in charge of the Broad Top City Hotel and Jackson House. JOSEPH MORRISON.

ESTEY'S COTTAGE ORGANS are still ahead of all competitors and stand unrivalled in POWER, PURITY OF TONE and BRILLIANCY, and all other points which go to make a first-class instrument.
The "VOX HUMANA TREMOLO" is the greatest of all modern improvements on reed instruments. It CHARMS and SURPRISES all who hear it, by its wonderful resemblance to the HUMAN VOICE. Do not confound this with the common tremolo in use. It is entirely different, and far superior to any other.
For sale wholesale and retail by
E. M. BRUCE,
18 N. Seventh Street, Philadelphia.
☞ Send for descriptive circular and price list.
The effect of our "Tremolo" is entirely new to me, and is certainly the best I ever heard.—GEO. W. MORGAN. [The first Organist of America.
No Tremolo has yet been invented that will in any degree compare with this for beauty of effect. In fact, it seems to me to be absolutely perfect.—WM. A. JOHNSON. Pipe Organ Builder.
Estey's Cottage Organs are without a superior for exceedingly quick articulation and round tone—the essential features in instruments of this class.—GEO. JARDINE, Pipe Organ Builder.
The Cotttge Organ is the best of its class I ever saw, and the best adapted for church music of any in use.—C. HEINTZ, Organist, Findlay, O.
I am much pleased with the Cottage Organ which I purchased from you; it combines sweetness and power in an unusual degree, and is quite a favorite in our family circle.—BISHOP SIMPSON.
We know no organs of the class which possess so many valuable qualities.—INDEPENDENT.
For the parlor, its sweetness is remarkable; for the church it has a power more organ-like than anything we have seen.—METHODIST.
Persons wishing to purchase an organ are requested to examine the Estey instruments now in use at the Presbyterian and Episcopal Churches, Bedford, Pa. jul26,'67

1867.—"THE WORLD."—1867.
The attention of the public is invited to the claims of "The World" as one of the leading public journals of the country. It is the chief organ of the Democratic Party of the United States, and the foremost advocate of the immediate restoration of the Union. Its highest merits consists in its character as an enterprising and trustworthy newspaper.
The next year bids fair to be a more critical one in the history of our free institutions than even any eventful ones that have preceded it. The first requsite for an intelligent judgment of public affairs is a full and authentic account of facts as they transpire. These THE WORLD always aims to give with conscientious accuracy, and with equal fullness and fidelity, whether they make for or against its own views of public policy. Prompt activity in spreading before its readers every kind of news in which any part of the public takes an interst, is the first duty of a newspaper, and the facilities of THE WORLD for discharging this obligation are unsurpassed by those of any journal in the United States. Whatever else it may fail in, it certainly will not fail to furnish the news, nor to supply it with such promptitude, spirit, freshness, abundance, variety, accuracy and candor, that no class of readers can miss anything of interest which they wish to find. THE WORLD will publish documents and arguments prepared by political foes just as freely as those prepared by political friends; making its own comments on them, of course, but never suppressing or garbling them because they are calculated to damage its own party. Adverse arguments, which it cannot refute, it is content to leave to make their full impression. THE WORLD adopts this rule because it believes no other is honest; because it conceives that its first duty to its readers is to keep them thoroughly informed on every passing subject of importance. In politics, THE WORLD will continue to be the bold advocate of a Liberal, Progressive Democracy. The unflinching champion of Freedom, Justice, Order and Constitutional Rights. The inspiration of its politics is Freedom restrained by Justice; or, to speak more strictly, Freedom pure and simple, in the largest collective measure; the office of justice being merely to protect freedom from encroachments; Freedom of the individual citizen in his rights of thought, speech, religion and locomotion; in his Right to choose his own food and drink, in spite of meddlesome temperance laws; in his Right to make any money bargains he thinks proper, in spite of foolish usury laws; in his Right to buy and sell in all markets, domestic and foreign, in spite of unjust protective tariffs; in his Right to representation in the legislative bodies which tax him, in spite of unconstitutional exclusions; Freedom of collective citizens to assemble for discussion of grievances; Freedom of all local communities to manage their local affairs without central interference; Freedom in every section of the country from the arrogant and unconstitutional domination of other sections; this large and comprehensive idea of Freedom sums up the politics of THE WORLD, which will never be found wanting to this capital interest of the country and of the human race.
In its accurate Commercial Intelligence and careful, reliable market reports, THE WORLD will continue to maintain its present high reputation. A paper published in the commercial metropolis is naturally looked to for authentic information relating to trade, commerce and finance; and this being a feature in which the THE WORLD prides itself, it boldly challenges comparison with every journal in the metropolis.
EDITIONS.
The WEEKLY WORLD, a large quarto sheet, same size as Daily, is now printed throughout in large type, and has the largest circulation of any weekly journal published, save one. Its extraordinary success since its union with the New York ARGUS has justified the most liberal expenditures, which will make it unrivalled in interest and value to farmers. Published Wednesday.
1. Its Market Reports embrace the New York, Albany, Brighton and Cambridge Live Stock Markets; the New York Country Produce and General Produce Markets; special and valuable Hop Intelligence; a department of Agricultural Reading; all together composing an unrivalled handbook of current information for the Farmer, Live Stock or Produce Dealer, Country Merchant, &c.
2. A page or more reserved for entertaining Fireside Reading for the Family circle, embracing the freshest and best Stories, Poetry, Religious Reading, etc., and a page for the Discussion of all Prominent Topics of general interest, political agricultural, financial, literary, etc.
3. Its Digest of the News is not, like most weeklies, a mere waste-basket of the Daily; only matters of interest and importance are chosen from the Daily, while the mass of its contents are prepared especially for the Weekly.
In every postoffice district there should be found some active, public spirited Democrat, who will confer a benefit upon us, his neighbors, and the cause, by counseling with his Democratic friends and making a determined effort to form as large a club as possible for the WEEKLY WORLD.
The SEMI-WEEKLY WORLD is a large quarto sheet, same size as Daily, which, by omitting a great mass of city advertisements from the Daily, contains all its news, correspondence, editorials, commercial and market news, cattle market and provision reports, and a fresh and entertaining miscellany of literature. Published Tuesday and Friday.
The DAILY WORLD affords a complete compendium of, and commentary upon, the news of every day.
